

Business IT Assistance

Last Updated Wednesday, 21 May 2008

For new businesses starting up or getting an online presence for the first time, it can be a very time consuming and difficult experience. Let us help you to get through these first steps. We are able to provide smart effective branding for your business and get your business web presence online and available to your customers in as little as 1 week (depending on your requirements and the amount of material you already have available e.g. brochures and other publicity.)

We are also happy to provide advice on your general IT systems from networks and communications to Email and word processing. We can provide a concise synopsis of your existing set up and guide you through any actions that can improve your existing set up.

This is an ideal service for many small to medium size businesses who cannot justify a full time IT support person.
