

Links

Last Updated Tuesday, 01 July 2008

BBC News all the latest news from around the world. Great for staying up to date.

EBay The best auction site. Warning - it is only a bargain if you need it!

Flickr A great community for sharing your pictures and now video as well.

Facebook Originally designed to help students keep in touch, this site is now one the most popular social networking services online.

Digg.com Digg is a technology new portal and much more. It aggregates news stories from around the world based on user popularity.

Youtube.com Amongst all the rubbish on this site there are some very useful videos created by people just interested in sharing their skills and experience.

Chester City Council Lots of local information here. A great starting point to finding out about local services.

Google My favourite search engine and now so much more.

OpenOffice This page lets you download a totally free alternative to Microsoft Office. It is fully compatible with existing office documents.

This web browser is a free alternative to internet explorer. It is secure and easy to operate. I recommend this product to all my customers.

King of URL